

February 2012

Forrester Consulting recently completed a commissioned study on the economic impact of deploying the Alfresco Enterprise Content Management System. This study concluded that utilizing Alfresco pays for itself in just 10 months and can realize an estimated $1.3M in savings over three years.

Read about this study by selecting the following link:

*The Total Economic Impact of Alfresco Enterprise Content Management.*

Other benefits reported in the study include:

- The avoidance of software license and maintenance costs compared to alternative solutions
- Lower maintenance costs when replacing a large number of shared drives
- The ability to use internal or less expensive Java developers for modifications to the open source platform
- Cost avoidance due to the open source stack

For additional information, contact Formtek, an Alfresco Gold System Integration Partner, at sales@formtek.com.

About Formtek: For over two decades, Formtek has been providing mission-critical Enterprise Document and Content Management solutions and services to some of the most demanding industrial operations in the world. Our capabilities and experience, particularly in the areas of engineering drawing management, technical document management, and secure collaboration, have helped both small organizations as well as large global enterprises manage their most important information assets. Formtek solutions address real, day-to-day document management, content management, and records management requirements for worldwide customers in manufacturing, aerospace, defense, telecommunication, utility, and government.